

The Snow Leopard Stalks Nazi's at Elbe Tactical – Bedford Village

Ringo, the 9th's Snow Leopard, saved the day (once again) at the Elbe Tactical in Bedford. Seen here getting ready to pounce or advance as the remaining Allied forces bug out over his shoulder.

Commander Gianobile Loses Personal Affects - Promises Tighter Security

Commander Gianobile pictured as an M.P., to help scare those who have been taking his personal affects and cleverly replacing them in secretive locations such as the pocket of his coat or pants.

TWO NEW "GO - DEVILS" RECEIVE BATTLE NICK NAMES ENDEARING THEM TO 9th!

Repple Depple Replacement, Frank "GUPPY" Sokolovic. Runner and personal attache' to Commander Gianobile. Has Qualified in the following: Rifle, Gophering, and Music. Frankie's been a welcome addition to "the FUBAR Boys" in which he helps with bass, guitar & vocals. GUPPY was a real warrior at the Elbe tactical where he hurt one of his fins and earned his nick name courtesy of the Snow Leopard.

Frank "GUPPY" Sokolovic

Repple Depple Replacement, Mike "CHOW-TIME" Moretti joins as a wily veteran who doesn't need anyone to polish his boots and he's also had a lot of trigger time with his Garand. Mike got his nick-name when making the mistake of feeding his brethren "GO-DEVILS" a hot meal during a winter tactical. He is also known for his "on the spot" pocket watch repairs too. He's a good man, good soldier and another welcome addition to the unit.

Mike "CHOW-TIME" Moretti

GO-DEVIL Special Forces Training!

PFC Joe "John Joe" Baunniester, Tech. Sgt. Gary "G-Man" Oprendek, Tech. Sgt. Lou "Blondie" Gianobile, and Pvt. Mike "Chow-Time" Moretti. Laughorne Gun Club, "Winter of 1944" Shoot. The event was a huge success, special thanks to G-Man for acting as event liaison!